Dr Liz Dickinson, Former Daphne Jackson Fellow says:

Beating the balancing act Dr Liz Dickinson, Post-doctoral Research Associate & Knowledge Transfer Partnership Associate, University of York and Croda Europe Ltd. “The Fellowship changed my professional life but also my personal life. It meant that I was happier being back in the work that I loved, but still managing to work part-time around caring for our young family. I have a sense of fulfilment that I achieved both things that were important to me, which would not have been possible before my Daphne Jackson Fellowship. I have shown my children (and others around me) that it is possible to do work that you love and work part-time.” Liz undertook her Fellowship between 2016 and 2018 at the University of York, co-sponsored by the Royal Society of Chemistry and the BBSRC.
